March 2, 1752. [NUMB. 927.]

LONDON, December 21.

YEsterday an expreſs arrived at St. James's with the melancholly account of the death of her majeſty Louiſa queen of Denmark, youngeſt daughter of our moſt gracious ſovereign king George II.

On thurſday his majeſty went to the houſe of peers, and gave his aſſent to ſeveral bills.

The houſe of lords are adjourned to thurſday the 9th of January, and the commons to tueſday the 7th.

That ſurprizing alacrity and diligence with which ſtate buſineſs has been done before, is preſumed to be an earneſt of the activity and application with which the buſineſs of the people will be likewiſe done after the holidays: And if ſome publick ſpirited patriots, during the approaching ſeaſon of relaxation, would ſeriouſly employ their thoughts, in order to find an effectual method of checking immorality and vice, and engaging all ranks to live in a manner ſuitable to their reſpective ſtations; it would afford us ſome hopes of ſeeing rapine and corruption extinguiſhed; which will otherwiſe lead us into the dreary road of ruin and deſpair.

On thurſday an expreſs arrived at St. James's palace from Paris; and in the evening there was a great council at the Cock-Pit, Whitehall, on that occaſion.

Private letters from Dreſden inform us, that the affair of the acceſſion of certain powers to the treaty of Peterſburgh will be brought again on the tapis early in the new year, and that ſome new ſtipulations are to be annex'd to it.

Letters from Switzerland, by the way of Cologn, ſay that the regency of the canton of Bern have iſſued a proclamation, forbidding all ſubjects of the ſaid canton to liſt as ſoldiers in the ſervice of the Britiſh Eaſt-India company.

A ſcheme is drawn up, and will ſoon be laid before parliament, for employing vagrants, and other idle perſons, who have no viſible way of living, in the herring fiſhery; and for the better maintaining thoſe who, thro' age or infirmities, are incapable of labour, by their reſpective pariſhes.

We hear that an expreſs has within this fortnight brought over a memorial, which was delivered to the earl of Albemarle by the French commiſſaries that are actually treating with our commiſſaries about limits in America: in which memorial they ſet forth the claims of the court of France to certain territories in that part of the world, and demand that the reſpective limits be ſettled agreeable thereto.

London, Dec. 31. They write from Paris, that the lord Marſhal, envoy extraordinary from the king of Pruſſia, continues to confer frequently with the French miniſtry, and they will have it that there is a very important negociation on the Tapis between the courts of Verſailles and Berlin, relative to the election of a king of the Romans. It is pretended that the affairs of the clergy have been adjuſted in a council held at Verſailles a few days ago in the king's preſence. They alſo give us a liſt of their ſhips of war actually in readineſs for ſervice, which they ſay is more authentic then any liſt hitherto publiſhed, and by which it appears that it conſiſts of five ſhips of 80 guns, ſeventeen of 74, twenty-three of 64, five of 54, three of 50, two of 48, one of 44, nine of 30, five of 26, and two of 24 guns each: Beſides 15 gallies in the port of Marſeilles, and in good order, and many ſloops, fire-ſhips and bomb ketches, &c.

The mourning for the late queen of Denmark will continue but three weeks, and is only to be obſerved at court

There is an account from Rochelle, that the ſquadron which ſailed from thence in July laſt, ſteered to the Eaſt-Indies, and that tranſports are fitting out there to carry troops and handicrafts, to the number of 1000 men, in order to repair the damages which the French company have ſuſtained in the Eaſt-Indies.

On ſaturday an expreſs arrived at the Cockpit from the Hague, which was immediately diſpatched to court, the particulars of which are not yet known.
